Mining hearings under way

A House subcommittee taking testimony on various strip-mine regulation bills before Congress has indicated that it is unlikely to favor any outright ban on strip-mining. The main testimony of the first two days was from Rep. Ken Hechler (D-W. Va.) who favors abolition and from spokesmen for the Nixon administration bill calling for state regulation of strip-mining.

Hechler, long an outspoken critic of the coal industry, sharply denounced stripping and its social, economic and environmental effects. He contended that the nation's fuel demands could best be met by expanding and improving the underground mining industry. "We're caught in an energy crisis so we have to continue to rip up the land and pollute the water. When the day comes that we put protection of the land ahead of profit, I'll be happy," Hechler stated.

Several committee members, however, charged Hechler's abolition bill with being uninformed or even irresponsible.

THE STUDENT ASSOCIATION at Midway Junior College has elected Miss Deborah Greer (seated) as its president. Miss Greer is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Greer of Jenkins and a 1970 graduate of Jenkins High School. She will serve as the main link between the students and the faculty at the college. With her (left to right) are Sharon Marsh, Jeannie Phillips and Vickie Baumgardner, also student officers.

County receives jobs allowance

Letcher County is slated to receive $32,400 under the new Public Service Employment Act, which was passed by Congress as part of the effort to help fight unemployment.

Kentucky is receiving a total of $200 million, $3 million of which will go to the counties and cities. The funds are to be used to give jobs to the unemployed. Based on the formula presented by the Department of Labor of $5,000 a job, it means that about six jobs will result from money coming to the county. Judge Robert Collins said yesterday that he doesn't know yet what the county will do with the funds, adding that he has as yet received no official instructions.

The distribution of funds by the federal government was based on the number of unemployed, as well as the percent of unemployed in each of the states.

Other eastern Kentucky counties receiving funds are as follows: Bell, $143,400; Breathitt, $28,900; Clay, $36,700; Estill, $90,400; Floyd, $79,500; Harlan, $84,900; Jackson, $63,700; Johnson, $42,800; Knox, $46,000; Lawrence, $28,100; Leslie, $36,900; Magoffin, $67,700; Martin, $33,700; McCreary, $33,700; Owsley, $25,100; Perry, $41,800; Pike, $128,500; Powell, $35,300; Pulaski, $44,300; and Rockcastle, $47,100.

Horses to be vaccinated

The Letcher County Extension Service is in the process of organizing the county for vaccinating all horses, mules, and ponies for Venezuelan Equine Encephalomyelitis, according to extension agent Jim Gambill.

Gambill said that in order to get enough vaccine, his agency must have a list of all these animals, their owners, and the communities in which they live. The vaccine and service are absolutely free at this time, he said. For reporting this necessary information, call 633-2362.

Records show Letcher County's growth industry

Letcher County's small deep-mine operations are continuing to face financial hard times. The current situation is so bad, say some longtime coalfield observers, that a number of well-established underground operations might have to remove their names from the active list.

But if that does happen, Letcher County still won't be hurting for enough coal companies to claim. A survey of coal operation incorporations, on file in the County Clerk's office, reveals that since only the beginning of 1970, at least 40 concerns have been set up for the general business of coal. That compares with only about ten such filings of incorporation in all of 1968 and 1969.

The jump in new companies coincides with the real beginning of the county's strip-mining boom. While underground mind production--and overall mining employment--have fallen in the last couple of years, strip yield has risen sharply. Most of the firms listed below do not specify the kind of mining done. However, most also are small capital operations, the kind that couldn't possibly open up a deep-mine under today's costs. Strip-mining requires relatively small investment, an end-loader, a couple of bulldozers, a few other pieces of equipment and just a few men to operate things.

Laws of incorporation require the company to state its purpose. Most of the companies listed below followed a more or less form statement of purpose. Maggie Cook Coal Company's is typical. Its stated purpose "shall be that of mining and marketing coal and kindred products, and to acquire by purchase, lease or otherwise, coal and mineral lands and leaseholds and other rights and privileges necessary and incident to carrying on the business of mining." Also, most of the corporations reserve the right to sell or lease coal lands and leases.

What follows is a listing of all newly incorporated businesses generally concerned with coal mining. In addition to the firm's name, the incorporators and their addresses are listed, as well as the number of shares that each planned to begin operations with and the value of a single share. If it is so indicated in the papers of incorporation, the nature of the company's mining intentions is stated; otherwise, the concern is just engaged in the general business of mining, without specifying whether it is deep or surface. The date when the papers were filed with the county is also included.

U. S. CORPORATIONS HAVE STRONG INTERESTS IN JAPANESE ECONOMY

Probably the most significant aspect of Nixon's economic plan involves the long range interests of American corporations operating in the Pacific Basin. A handful of large companies are both anxious to protect their markets in Japan, and in consort with the Japanese to extend them elsewhere in Asia. To follow and understand the maneuvering that is now taking place, it is useful to look at some of the more basic Pacific trading patterns.

Japan is the most important energy market in the world, and is virtually dependent on imported fuels. Oil provides two thirds of all energy; most of it comes from the Middle East and is provided by four major international firms. Caltex, owned jointly by California Standard and Texaco, provides 15 percent of all Japan's oil. Jersey Standard and the Royal Dutch Shell group each account for 11 percent. Thus, 37 percent of Japan's basic energy resource is controlled by four large oil companies, three of them U.S. In addition, U.S. oil companies participate in major refining activities and take part in the search for oil off shore Japan. The Japanese would like to be less reliant on Middle Eastern oil, and to shake loose the "seven sisters" as the companies in the international oil cartel are called. Japanese companies are involved in the search for oil around the world; Japan has producing wells in the Middle East, and is looking in Alaska. But most Japanese companies are small in size and don't have the capital to mount extensive drilling programs. Thus, it is difficult for them to avoid taking in the big international companies as partners. For instance, when Japan, a government oil company, did not hit oil off Indonesia, the Japanese government withdrew support. Gulf immediately moved in and made an advantageous deal, agreeing to put up $2 million in exchange for a 50 percent interest in the Japan operation. The Japanese government had already spent $27 million in drilling. In an effort to avoid dependence on the international companies, the Japanese government now encourages oil companies to band together in joint ventures. Even so they can muster capital of little more than $80 million, not much when compared to Gulf's $5 billion.

The Japanese energy markets will double in size by 1975; California Standard, benefiting from the terrific demand for oil, reported record high profits recently. Thus, from the standpoint of the oil companies it is imperative that the Japanese market remain captive. That means controlling oil and gas in the South China sea. Control of oil supplies allow the seven sisters to maintain advantageous prices.

The Japanese steel industry, third largest in the world, depends on imported iron ore and coking coal. Most of the coal and iron ore came from outside southeast Asia. They are provided by a few international corporations again most of them U.S. based. For example, Kaiser Industries is a major supplier of iron ore to Japan. Kaiser ships some ore from its mines in the western US; but most of it comes from vast iron mines partly controlled by Kaiser in Australia. Utah Construction & Mining, a San Francisco based company, is a major supplier of coking coal to the Japanese steel industry. Utah ships coal from its coal mines, also in Australia. In addition, Kaiser is readying immense strip mines in British Columbia to provide the Japanese steel makers with coal.

This profitable trade might be undercut if the Japanese successfully concluded agreements with the Russians, providing for import of coal from Siberia, or if Japan

The Federal Trade Commission investigation into Bethlehem Steel advertising has raised for the first time the question of whether the FTC has jurisdiction over cases posing an issue of free speech.

The advertising in question were full-page ads that ran last March in national magazines. The ads sought to promote a favorable image of the company by picturing the company's strip mining operations for coal in the Appalachian mountains as beneficial to residents. Specifically, the ad stated, "Every acre of land surface-mined by Bethlehem is promptly and effectively restored--often to be of more beneficial use than before it was mined."

Because the ads do not attempt to sell a product, they are classified as "non-product ads." The question now is whether the FTC can rule on such ads.

If a company through advertising falsely misleads a consumer into buying a product, then the company can be formally charged by the FTC. "If the ad simply tells an untruth, though, it may be protected by the first amendment," said Chuck Bangert, member of Sen. Philip Hart's anti-trust and monopoly subcommittee staff which investigated the case.

Thomas Grady, FTC attorney who is investigating the Bethlehem Steel advertising case, believes the FTC does have jurisdiction, but he must prove this to begin work on the possible deception in the advertising.

Ed Downs, FTC attorney in the Bureau of Consumer Protection, said a decision will be made in the next several weeks.

"We're not sure that this is an area the FTC should become involved in," he said.

Sen. Hart, prompted by the complaints of residents in the area, asked the FTC to investigate.

"For example," he told the FTC, "one ad proclaims that the beautifully forested mountains pictured have been strip-mined. In reality, I'm told the mining was done on the side of the mountains not in the picture."

(The advertising in question involves Bethlehem's participation in the development of Fishpond Lake near Payne Gap in Letcher County.)

(The lake was the site of a massive clean-up effort several weeks ago just before Grady visited Letcher County as a part of his investigation, but company officials and others involved in the clean-up campaign denied there was any connection between the Grady visit and the clean-up work.)

(The advertising picturing Fishpond appeared in color in Newsweek, Time and other national magazines.)

could not enter easily on their own. The automobile industry in China is one example. In addition, the Japanese are playing an increasing role in Vietnam, helping to build hydro electric projects, irrigation schemes, and discussing plans for establishment of "free zones" where goods can be cheaply assembled for export. The Japanese can probably trade with both North and South Vietnam. Thus, investment in a Japanese firm operating in Vietnam is likely to be safer for US corporation than establishing offices on their own. The same may hold true for the off-shore oil bidding in South Vietnam. Japanese fronts for American controlled ventures would probably be a much shrewder move over the long-term than out-right ownership. In this sense, an important part in Nixon's Vietnamization program may come to be the replacement of American GIs by Japanese businessmen.

HOMES RISING FAST IN RENEWAL AREA

A drive up Ohio Street this Fall will take you past every stage of home construction. While some lots in the West Whitesburg Urban Renewal Area show only a foundation as evidence of the development, many homes are nearing completion and some are occupied.

Don Brown, Executive Director of the Whitesburg Municipal Housing Commission, said that 30 of the 44 lots in the renewal area had been sold as of Sept. 22. All of the lots have street frontage with sidewalk and are serviced by a sewer and water system, underground TV cable and electricity.

Brown said that three of the original lots were now considered unusable for housing because of the steep terrain. If these lots are not sold before the April, 1972, deadline, the Housing Commission plans to turn them over to the City of Whitesburg for use as a public park. He foresees the construction of steps and picnic tables for the park, situated in the upper end of the renewal area.

From up near the head of Graveyard Hollow, the renewal area looks protected and comfortable in the shelter of surrounding hills. In the foreground, a crew works on the roof of the James Craft home.

Two-wheeled vehicles attest to the fact that Ray Cornett and his family have moved into their home on Ohio Street.

Columbus Sexton has transformed the Three Point Cafe into a beautiful, modern home fronting on the circle off Ohio Street.

The Bobby Adams house lacks only one layer on the outside to be weatherproof and beautiful for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Howard are building this house on the loop that runs off Ohio Street.

The first glimpse of the housing project as you turn off the Mountain Parkway gives an impression of change and progress as each house enters a different stage of completion.

Millstone BALMY DAYS OF AUTUMN BRING PLEASANT MEMORIES

By MABEL KISER

The balmy autumn days are here, and the leaves are beginning to have a tinge of color. I think autumn is going to be just as beautiful as summer has been. I love to see the wind ruffle the leaves on the trees and feel it blowing on my face.

Somewhat, autumn seems like the sunset of life, with all our work behind us so we can relax and rest for a spell. But knowing that winter will come all too soon, I look up at the blue, blue sky, feel the gentle breeze and enjoy every minute of it.

The Golden Rod is golden, golden this year, and the Farewell Summer flower is spreading its branches and nodding its head.

Makes me remember the days, long long ago, when a little girl walked through the woods, felt the gentle autumn wind on her face, watched the wind turn up the leaves saying that soon there would be rain. Without a care in the world this girl hunted cows, watched the birds fly southward, and never longed to go with them. I was contented where I was.

I stopped by the long spring (cool and clear under a shade tree in the crevice of a rock), took a deep draught from the gourd that sometimes hung there, and wandered slow and easy down the hill, up the hill, through the clear creek waters, swung on grapevine swings, hunted for birds nests, watched the mother bird feed her young, watched the mother hen gather her chicks in before a storm. She always knew when a storm was coming.

I gathered moss and made a carpet fit for a king to walk on. No palace was ever so pleasant and no queen was ever so contented as I. For I never knew that beyond the horizon over the top of the hill was a cruel world and that one day I would ride Old Beck across the mountain and see some of the unpleasant things that were loosed when Pandora opened her box. But I did not know about Pandora then, and I did not know there was poverty and cruelty in the world. My world then was a world of love, shared with my parents, brothers and sisters, my aged grandmother and grandfather and my Aunt Hattie.

Our worldly wealth was meager maybe, but I was rich in the things that count, and the memory of the sunny days stand me in good stead in many of life's more unpleasant moments that come to us all.

But then I still feel that the Giver of all good gifts has me hedged in and still gives me good things in the form of love of family and friends. I say that God always gives me His best, and this too will stay me in the evening sunset of life. I believe that I will enjoy the beauty of the sunset, and that after the twilight and darkness of night I will receive a fadeless crown.

Like all mothers with gone away children I get homesick to see them and hear the grandchildren say with childish voices all the laughable things that young children say. But I cannot see them as often as I would like. But this is life, and this will pass too. And when I do see them my spirit will be refreshed by their presence, and I will laugh and dream and remember again.

The Orbin Robi nettes of Jenkins were made happy last week when their children, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gallion (Lynn) and baby Laura came to visit from Alexander, Va. They had stopped by Dayton for a visit with Mrs. Gallion's brother Jack Hill and family. They also visited his mother, Mrs. Gallion, who also lives in Jenkins. Both Mr. and Mrs. Gallion are graduates of Jenkins High School and have lived in Alexander for several years.

A meeting was held at the Millstone Community Center last Wednesday with Attorney J. T. Begley of Prestonsburg, to talk about Black Lung Benefits and other problems that concern poor people in this area. Many who are afflicted with pneumoconiosis, or widows applying for benefits from their late husbands find that it is very expensive to get to the doctor's office to have medical examinations or medical records found. To help somewhat with these expenses the Millstone Community Center will sponsor a pie supper Friday night, October 1, at 7 p.m. Won't you come and help us in this? Besides the pie supper there will be games and some good old-fashioned fun, so please come.

At the meeting the other evening Misses Vicky Sturdevant and Annie Boland, senior and junior from Pitzer College in California, majoring in Sociology, and at present working at Blackey Day Care Center at Blackey with Guy Carawan.

My secretary, Nancy C. Adams (Nee Nancy C. (Dottie) Webb) is looking for a picture of her mother that was made when her mother was very young, about 16. She has recent pictures, but she has reason to believe that there is one when her mother was young. If anyone has this picture will you please loan it to Nancy C. so she might make some copies for herself and other children, and then she will send your picture back.

I stopped by the home of the Gordon Meades the other evening and visited for a while. The twin sons, General and Solomon are growing like anything, and are really identical.

The Brad Nieces of Colson were made happy last week when their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Don Niece (Marjorie Blair) visited them from Warren, Mi. The young couple had just moved into their lovely new home they have purchased in Warren.

Others visiting their father recently were Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Niece were their daughter, Tracy Lynn from Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wolf and Kathy from Harrison, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Shelby Niece of Hazard. Shelby has given up his position as State Police to become a private detective for the L&N Railroad.

The Brad Nieces tell me too that they have a new granddaughter, Muncy, the first child of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Allan (Carol Ann) of Louisville. This is the first granddaughter of Mrs. Brad Niece.

I always like to write about friends coming to Millstone to visit. Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Kiser (Ruth Brush) tell us that Mrs. Willene Bullock of Lafayette, Tenn. and her sister, Miss Colleen Phillips of Lexington came by for a visit last week. These were the daughter of Edgar Phillips of Lexington and the late Maude Phillips, who lived in Millstone several years ago. They were visiting another sister and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Day (minneva) of Whitesburg. The girls have a brother, Edgar Phillips Jr. Barbara Phillips, 73 now lives in Lexington. Others visiting with the Kisers were their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Kiser (Peggie Short) and their daughter, Lisa, from Detroit.

Mrs. Brenda Daylong and her children, Shelby and Tony and her Aunt Nell Kiser, all drove to Pikeville for a day of shopping last week. After a good lunch in Jerry's Drive-In Restaurant, they stopped on their way back for a visit with Mrs. Kiser's sister, and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis (Geneva) Stittner. (Continued on Page 16)

Roxana:

THE BIG STIR OFF ON LINEFORK DRAWS A CROWD TO HELP, EAT, AND ENJOY THE GOOD MUSIC AND COMPANY

By ALMA WHITAKER

I am glad this week to be sitting at my own table writing. But we did really enjoy our weekend at the Jenny Wiley Resort. The men caught a nice bunch of fish, but Ana and I only went boat riding a couple of times. It rained most the time. We sure enjoyed the good eating in the beautiful diningroom at May Lodge. They have the best food there. And the cooks and waitresses are so nice. So it is quite a nice place to go for relaxation. Ana and Collins left Friday after spending a week with us. Wednesday, another one of our daughters, Linda and her husband Darrel and their little son Derrick came down from Connersville. But they had to be back Saturday, so they all left together on Friday.

Saturday our daughter Mary and her kids came down to join Bill. He had come down earlier in the week to help his Dad Henry Halcomb make out his cane. So last night we all went to a big stir off over on Linefork. It sure was a big one. It looked more like a funeral when we got over there, because there were so many cars you could hardly find a parking place. Here are some of the ones that were there, not mentioning all the young folks: Mr. and Mrs. Ford Ingram from Versailles; Mr. and Mrs. George Halcomb and family also from Versailles; Hester Ingram; Iva Gail Ingram; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Halcomb and family from Hamilton, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Dock Cornett and family; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Halcomb and son; Mr. and Mrs. Tilden Crase, Whitesburg; Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Cornett; Mr. and Mrs. Verlon Ison; Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Cornett; Mr. and Mrs. Farley Creech and family from Lexington; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Frazier from De-feated Creek; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Halcomb and two daughters from Hamilton, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Watson Whitaker; Mr. and Mrs. Burns Caudill from Cumberland. I guess there were 50 youngsters, so I hope that includes the ones I haven't mentioned.

Besides all the molasses that we ate, we had marshmallows to roast, meat to broil and weiners to roast, potatoes and corn to roast. Ed Halcomb furnished the music and everyone was singing old time religion and other good songs. So I would say everyone sure did enjoy that stir off, and Dicy made good hot biscuits, and plenty was cooked at the house for anyone that wanted to come and eat. They only had about 30 gallons of molasses left out of 50 by the time they filled the jars that people brought to get them a little.

Sorry to learn that Kirby Ingram has been in the hospital.

This morning Watson and Bill went to Cumberland to church. They said they had a wonderful meeting. Mary and I wanted to go but with the kids all here we didn't get to go. We stayed and cooked my little granddaughter Beverly a birthday dinner, and she wanted me to bake her a birthday cake. She didn't want a store bought cake or a cake from the box. She says her grandma can make the best ones from scratch is what she calls it. So I did make her a beautiful and good one. She is now 12 years old, almost a little woman, and a sweet little girl.

So now everyone is gone and everything is quiet. I sure miss my sister, Polly Ison. She is still in Indiana visiting her kid. She surely will home this week-end.

Last week Ana, Linda and I visited two of Polly's sons on Cowan. They both have built new homes and Shirley and Pat sure were good designers, and they have the most beautiful home anyone could wish for.

Martha Metchell is doing a lot better now. She did not have to go to the hospital. We hope she will be OK soon. I guess that is about all for now. Most everyone in our neighborhood is OK. They are all getting ready for winter. Summer is almost gone and it doesn't seem like we've had any. It has rained so much. At least we haven't had to grumble too much about the heat. So maybe winter won't be so hard.

1972 Chevrolet. Building a better way to see the U.S.A.

Caprice Coupe illustrated at Mt. Rushmore in South Dakota.

We want your new Chevrolet to be the best car you ever owned.

The best.

No qualifications. No reservations.

We want it to be the most beautiful, most trouble-free, most comfortable car you ever owned.

So we've given the 1972 Caprice (above) power steering, power front disc brakes, refined power ventilation and an improved front bumper to provide added front-end protection.

Plus a 400-cubic-inch V8 engine and Turbo Hydra-matic automatic transmission.

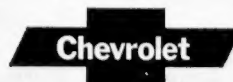

All standard, as you expect with a luxury car.

Altogether, a lot of diversity. So there's bound to be a Chevrolet just right for you, your family, your budget and your kind of driving.

Whatever your choice, we want your new Chevrolet to be the best car you ever owned. No less.

ICE: This week let's all try to do some good deed that will help future generations remember us

By SILLER BROWN

This is the beginning of a new week. Last week is gone forever and there's nothing to be gained by worrying over the past. It's gone.

But looking to the coming week let's all try to do some good deed that will go down in history, so that our future generations may profit by our good work.

Autumn begins the 23rd, and then I guess we will feel closer to the winter months.

The Katie dids, jar flies and grass hoppers seem to be more quiet. It's rained so much and there are so many weeds and grass to cut, I guess their blades are getting dull, and they are worn out.

There seem to be fewer birds each year. Some are already gone for the winter. We need the birds for many reasons. The other evening I heard a Screech Owl or a barn owl, the first one I have heard for several years.

Yesterday I went with the Blains to Mayking to Church. They had a good service. One woman was baptised and it was so nice.

And then they served dinner for that big crowd. The food was delicious, and anything a person wanted to eat was on the table. There was food enough to have fed the crowd over again. What a great blessing for the people here in Letcher county to be blessed with the best of food. But we still have to work to earn our bread.

It's raining this evening and I turned cool. I believe it's going to be a duck spell or maybe we might get to hear a wild goose going over.

I visited the Whitesburg Hospital and saw Mary Caudill who has had a bad sick spell. She seems to be improving some.

I also talked to Estel Blair's mother who was there. She was a good person to talk to, and very kind.

Mrs. Dora Pendleton was there too. Some others were in that room that I don't know. It's surprising to see who all you'll find in the hospital when you visit there.

Mrs. Pashie Boggs was there too, but she was doing fair. So many I did not know, but the Lord knows them all. If you can't go visit the sick then lend them a prayer. The Lord knows the heart of everybody, and knows when it is sincere.

Then after I came home on Sunday evening I went with my neighbors to John Brown's on Dryfork to a stir off. We sure got to eat some molasses. Sopping that foam was something else, while it was hot. They have several gallons of good molasses to sell at present time, but they will go fast. No one else close has made any.

Molasses is a healthy food, good for the children to eat and also Dad and Mom love it too. It's good with hot biscuits and butter.

Mrs. Edgar Banks has an old-fashioned quilting party last week. There were 28 present. Everyone had a good time and enjoyed the delicious dinner. This time of the year the ladies look forward to going to Aunt Diana's quilting parties, and catching up on the latest gossip.

Mrs. Ella Preston says her father, John Vermillion, is still improving some, and hopes to be well again.

Fritz Maggard is home and not too well, but thankful to be some better at the present time.

Mrs. Alma Taylor is said to be very sick at this time. I hope she is better soon. The people who know the worth of prayer ought to remember the sick and suffering everywhere in their prayers.

So many of us are so neglectful of our duty, it's time we should begin to think tomorrow it could be any one of us.

John Dee Hampton is said to be improving some.

Three of Alta's sisters came and spent the day with her on Sunday, and helped her catch up with her work. She is almost worn out, and not too well herself.

Boyd Banks at Ice is doing some better. He is able to stir about in the house. Some of the boys came and took him out for a little ride. That helps a great deal, and such a little kindness shown goes a long way. Sorry to hear of Arlie Caudill's little grandchild being sick. I hope it's well soon. Estel Caudill is about the same, and no better.

When a person complains and not much is the matter, just look around at the neighbors, and you probably will be ashamed to grunt. There is most sure to be people worse off than you, and standing in the need of your help.

My brothers spent Saturday night with me: Henry Caudill, George Caudill and his son George C. Caudill from Indiana.

I was pleased to have them. They were here to see about their mother, Mary Caudill, who had a bad sick spell and is in the hospital at Whitesburg. She is doing some better now. Little Chris Brown is spending the week with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Brown and Stevie. He seems to be enjoying himself with Stevie's toys.

The Cook family has my sympathy over the loss of a good sister. The Lord giveth and he taketh away. It's his choice who he calls home to rest, where there's no pain or sorrow. When a flower is cut down here it will bloom brighter in heaven.

Mrs. Ethel Lewis at Whitesburg is not doing as well as she should, but hopes to be well soon, and back at her job. Melvin Cornett at Whitco is not doing so well at this time. Mrs. Savana Johnson is back home doing some better, thanks to her good doctors and nurses. She will be able to go home again after several days in the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Stallard, Bobby and Douglas have been to Indiana to spend the weekend with their son, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Stallard.

It's time for potatoes to be dug and put up for the winter. The pumpkins and cushaw soon will be carried in too. They are not rolled under the beds as they were in the old days.

They raise such a few now-a-days, they just sit them behind the door or in the corner where they can be seen. The cushaw is a very valuable food, so good for the health. If people would eat more of this kind of food there would be less sickness, and healthier children.

All the children want now is a soft drink and a cold sandwich. Hot food is better for the health.

My sympathy goes to all those who have lost friends and loved ones.

So I'll close my column wishing everybody better health.

AMERICAN MOTORS INTRODUCES THE GUARANTEED CAR.

If anything goes wrong with one of our '72's and it's our fault, we'll fix it free. Anything.

AMERICAN MOTORS 1972 BUYER PROTECTION PLAN.

For years, car buyers in this country have been saying that instead of shiny new chrome every year, what they really want is a good car they can count on.

That's why American Motors and its dealers put together their 1972 Buyer Protection Plan. Here's how it works:

A STRONG GUARANTEE IN PLAIN ENGLISH.

When you buy a new 1972 car from an American Motors dealer, American Motors Corporation guarantees to you that, except for tires, it will pay for the repair or replacement of any part it supplies that is defective in material or workmanship. This guarantee is good for 12 months from the date the car is first used or 12,000 miles, whichever comes first. All we require is that the car be properly maintained and cared for under normal use and service in the fifty United States or Canada and that guaranteed repairs or replacements be made by an American Motors dealer.

This guarantee gives you 12-month or 12,000-mile coverage on a lot of things most car warranties don't. It covers air conditioning, battery, radio, wiper blades, front end alignment, light bulbs—literally everything we put on the car except tires.

In other words, if something we did goes wrong with one of our '72's, you won't have to pay for the parts or the labor. We will.

A MORE THOROUGHLY-CHECKED CAR. FROM THE FACTORY AND THE DEALER.

Naturally, we wouldn't be backing our cars like this if we weren't more sure of them than we've ever been before. For 1972, we've put in more quality control steps, more tests and more people to see that every car leaving our factory is as perfect as man and machine can make it.

At the dealer's, it's checked over again.

Every car (not one of 50, one of 5, every one) is road-tested for starting, handling, braking and overall performance. When the serviceman completes the test, he signs his report and slides it over the sun visor, where you can see it.

And, when a man signs his name to something, you can be sure he's done his job. And done it right.

A LOANER CAR WHEN YOU NEED IT. FREE.

Not only do we offer you a strong guarantee, we've set up a system to back it up without inconveniencing you.

If you have to leave your '72 overnight for guarantee repairs, over 2,000 dealers will loan you one of their cars.

A nice, clean, well-equipped car in good condition. Free.

A DIRECT LINE TO DETROIT. TOLL-FREE.

We're making some big promises, and we fully intend to keep them. But, just in case you have a problem, we have a way of handling it. When you buy a '72, you get the name and toll-free number of a person in Detroit.

If you call, we promise you you'll get results. And fast.

These aren't just fancy words. We mean it.

Nobody in the business does as much for you after you buy a car, and it takes a lot of time, men and money to do all these things.

But we think it's worth it.

Since we're giving American car-buyers exactly what they say they want, we should sell more cars than we've ever sold before.

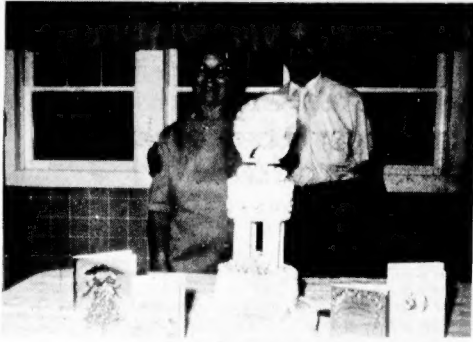

STARTING TODAY, THESE AMERICAN MOTORS DEALERS WILL DO MORE FOR YOU AFTER YOU BUY A CAR THAN ANY OTHER DEALER IN TOWN.

MR. AND MRS. BOYD GILLEY

Gilleys celebrate golden wedding anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Gilley of Premium, Ky., celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary on Thursday, Sept. 2, at their home where they have spent most of their married life.

Festivities honoring the couple were held Sept. 3 by their daughter, Miss Edith Gilley, of Hazard, Ky. The following day, their son, Vincent Gilley of Amelia, Ohio, hosted a dinner for them at Buckhorn Lodge, Buckhorn State Park.

Equal time demanded on coal ads

Strip-mining opponents and miners' groups in West Virginia are demanding equal time to answer radio advertisements sponsored by the West Virginia Coal Association.

The ads are carried in connection with the broadcast of all West Virginia football and basketball games this season.

The demand for free time has been made in a letter to James G. Harlow, president of West Virginia University. West Virginia Universities own and operate the Mountain Sports Network, which has broadcast the advertisements.

The letter says: "The expressed and implied claims of the West Virginia Coal Association are (1) that money flows into the community for everyone to share as a result of the coal industry; (2) that diligent efforts are under way to make the mines as safe as humanly and technically possible; (3) that the coal operators are eliminating acid mine drainage and gob piles, reclaiming mining areas and otherwise preserving the environment; (4) that coal operators are, in general, providing a better way of life for all West Virginians, represent only one viewpoint covering a host of controversial issues of public importance."

The letter says there are several other sides to the coal industry in West Virginia:

"There is the fact that the large out-of-state coal corporations are paying only one-fourth as much property taxes to the state as the average landowner in West Virginia on a relative basis. There is the fact that McDowell County, while producing more coal than any other county, has one

Linefork SEVERAL ATTEND TYREE FUNERAL

By DELLA SHEPHERD

Today has been sunshiny, and I suppose most folks enjoy it after having quite a bit of rain. But we have been lucky to escape the flash floods that some places got.

My daughter Frances called on Friday from Michigan to see if we were safe. She had heard on the news that flash floods were expected in our area.

I didn't get to go to Michigan as I had planned this weekend. My son Charles had flu and a sore throat, and my little grandson Kevin was sick also. But I have heard from all my children except one, and it is nice to know they are all OK.

My sister-in-law, Mattie Halcomb visited me this week, and left about an hour ago. I am already missing her. She now lives with her daughter, Mrs. William Cook from Clinton, Tenn.

Mattie and I along with her daughter Francis Wilder from Lynch attended the funeral of Mrs. Mary E. Tyree at the Collins Funeral Home in Whitesburg on Saturday.

The funeral services were good and the flowers were beautiful, and so many. I saw several of my friends that I don't see often including Mrs. Tyree's children.

I hadn't seen them in years. I also met other members of her family, and we stopped with Mrs. Tyree's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Riley Campbell, and they had such delicious food. They are so nice to everybody. The occasion was sad, but Mrs. Tyree was such a good person, I feel like saying that I believe her suffering is over. She used to attend Church at Hurricane Gap and was such a nice person.

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Shepherd's little daughter, Donna, spent several days in the Whitesburg hospital, but she is fine now.

Mrs. Eula Yovell, mother of Mrs. Dennis Combs, has been a patient in the Valley View Hospital in Benham for several days. She is diabetic and is not responding well to treatment. But I hope she will be able to come home soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Caudill and daughter have been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Cornett and their grandson and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Burnace Bradley of Hallie. Dave hasn't been very well for several days, but is up and around and we hope he will get well soon. Mrs. Pherby Cornett visited with Mrs. Mattie Halcomb and me on Wednesday. Mattie and Pherby were together a lot when they were young. They grew up near each other, and both of us enjoyed her a lot.

Mr. and Mrs. Vic Morris are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Parsons and Allie Halcomb of Gordon. Mrs. Morris is Faye's niece, the former Lunelle Lercies of Puley, and granddaughter of Allie Halcomb.

Mr. Cecil Parsons and son Keith went to Washington Co. Va., squirrel hunting, and killed four squirrels. Cecil also said Mr. Napier in Virginia whose son, Evan Napier, had a very serious operation on his eye. I hope he will be better soon. He has a family of eight children and had just moved from Chicago to Va. His father, Rev. Milton Napier has attended our church for several years.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cornett had visited them Pansy's mother, Mrs. Elmer Boggs and son Larry from N.C.

Mr. and Mrs. John Strunk of Cincinnati are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Chester Cornett of Gordon and also Dora, another sister from Indiana.

Bessie Jones and sister Mary from Cumberland came to visit and the four sisters went to Kingscreek to visit their uncle Jim Ratliff. I was disappointed that Mattie and I weren't here to see them. They stopped to visit us, and we had gone to Mrs. Tyree's funeral. If we had known, we would have arranged to see them.

Roxana: Cook-out at Whitakers; Stork shower for Mrs. Amburgey

By JANELL FIELDS

Thursday Mr. and Mrs. George Whitaker entertained the following guests with a cook-out in their yard: Mr. and Mrs. Basil Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Combs; Mr. and Mrs. Lilly Cornett; Mrs. Lola Shenanon; Miss Mary Whitaker; and Miss Blanche Hogg.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Fields and boys were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Miller and Kay of Skyline, and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Bailey and family of Isom.

Miss Blanche Hogg and her niece, Mrs. Ina Hogg Caine of Cumberland are visiting and shopping in Lexington and Frankfort this week.

Miss Jeanie Caudill, Ben and Glen Caudill spent Saturday with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Hassel Stamper of Whitesburg.

Sunday Mrs. Sue Amburgey was honored with a stork shower at her home. She received many lovely and useful gifts and everyone had a nice time.

VETERANS WHO NEED HELP MAY NOW CALL THE STATE VETERANS ADMINISTRATION OFFICE TOLL-FREE

FRANKFORT - A new state wide telephone system was opened Wednesday providing Kentucky veterans with toll-free calling to the Veterans Administration (VA) District Office in Louisville.

The new system is the sixth such service established in the U. S. by VA. Similar systems are operating in Georgia, Tennessee, Oklahoma, Iowa and Vermont.

Merritt S. Deltz, Jr., commissioner of Economic Security, officially opened the system by making the first call to Rufus H. Wilson, VA Associate Deputy Administrator, who was visiting the Louisville VA office.

Deltz congratulated Wilson and James Ratliff, manager of the Louisville VA office, on the system and said it will save Kentucky veterans much time and money in obtaining VA information.

The Department of Economic Security has several programs to aid veterans seeking employment and its Louisville Employment Security Office recently received the highest honor awarded any veterans employment service in the U. S.

Last year the department formed a 12-man Veterans Section for assisting, counseling and testing veterans seeking employment.

Another program channels job orders into the Section as they come into the department's Louisville Job Bank, giving veterans a chance at job openings before they are fed into the regular Job Bank operation.

Recently Commissioner Deltz was appointed Coordinator of Governor Nunn's Committee on Jobs for Veterans.

The new phone system will enable veterans and their dependents anywhere in the state to call free for information about VA training, medical care and other benefits.

The VA office now can be dialed from anywhere in the state and no operator is required.

The office can be dialed state wide at 800-292-4562, except in Louisville and Lexington.

Those calling from Louisville will dial 582 5811 and those in Lexington will use 253-0566.

LEGISLATIVE GROUP PROPOSES LICENSING FOR PESTICIDE DEALERS

The interim legislative subcommittee on agriculture soon will begin study of a proposed bill to license persons who commercially apply pesticides.

Rep. Bernard Keene, D-Bardonia, subcommittee chairman, said the bill would accomplish three purposes.

Standardize services so farmers can get exactly what they want.

Promote proper use of pesticides and avert bans which might result from misuse.

Coordinate with a federal law which would classify pesticides for general and restricted use and allow some to be used on an individual permit basis.

Nursery operators say the suggested bill would help protect them from fraudulent peddlers and help identify insect build-ups quicker so they can be controlled.

Chrysler-Plymouth introduces the 1972's. Built to stay new longer.

We've made quite a few changes in our cars for 1972. A lot of them you can see right away. Like the new looks of our Fury. And the new interiors and options we're offering this year.

But more important are some of the things you can't see. The kind of things we're doing to fulfill our commitment—we're dedicated to building cars that will run better and last longer than any car we've ever built before.

So whatever Chrysler-Plymouth car you're interested in—from the little Cricket to the compact Duster, from the mid-size Satellite to the luxurious Chrysler—you can be sure it was built with this commitment in mind.

Millstone: FORMER LETCHER COUNTIANS NOW IN FLORIDA STOP FOR A VISIT (from Page 6)

I am always happy to see old friends come in and visit with us at the center and always glad when new friends come in. Last week a Mr. and Mrs. John Stidham from Valparaiso, Fla., came by for a short visit. I was glad to see them and happy to learn that the read the Mountain Eagle in their adopted state of Florida. Mr. Stidham tells us that he is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Tandy Stidham and has three brothers, Tandy and Bill of Pound, Va. and Golden of Clintwood; and three sisters, Mrs. Ollie Breeding, Colly Creek (Isom) Mrs. Amanda Sergeant, Smoot Creek (Mrs. Henry Sergeant, the Henry formerly from Indiana Creek) and Mrs. Della Isom of Whitesburg. Mrs. Stidham is the former Ella Maggard, sister to our good friends Mrs. Mrs. Ruby Combs and Cecil Maggard of Whitesburg. Grover Maggard and Mrs. Edna Polly and Mrs. Alta Maggard of Detroit; and Mrs. Verna Maggard, Las Vegas, Nevada. The Stidhams say they live one mile of the Elgin Air Force Base in Fla., the largest in the world. When any of the readers of the Eagle are in here for a visit please come by and see me I shall be most happy to see you.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lewis of Kona are enjoying the visit of three of their grandchildren Eddie, Randy, and Tommy of California. The boys have been enrolled in the Marthas Jane Potter School at Kona.

My good friends, Sam and Polly Ann Taylor Sergeant Taylor of Indian Creek tell us how they enjoyed the Taylor Family Reunion held on Millstone on Sunday. There were cousins that had't seen each other in many years and some that had never met and from so many distant places. They had such an enjoyable time and plan to have the reunion at the same time next year, Sunday before Labor Day. A brother of Mrs. Sergeant, came in too late for the family reunion so they called around for relatives that had not yet left and ended up with five of the family having dinner with the Sergents. Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Taylor of Huntington, W. Va.; Henry Taylor and Herby from Charleston, W. Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Noah Taylor of Lebanon, Va. and Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Kincer and their son Delmar Ray and grandson Lee of Mayking. Noah's son, Johnny and his friend, Pat, a daughter Brenda and her husband and baby, Richmond, Va. This was the first time they had all been together since the death of their father, over ten years ago.

Over night guests earlier this month in the home of the Sam Sergents were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Brown of Tenn., they were here for the funeral of her mother, Mrs. Minerva Baker of Whitesburg. Others here for the funeral were all the sons of Henry Sergeant (formerly of Indian Creek now of Va.) and visiting their sister, Alkie Sergeant, were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sergeant and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Sergeant of Cleveland, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Sergeant and Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Sergeant all of Loraine, and Henry Sergeant Jr. also of Cleveland.

The John Wrights of Democrat had her mother, Mrs. Mattie Blaine and her son, Dale Blair from Michigan and her grandmother and other relatives of Red Fox up for a visit recently.

Members of the Taylor family attending the Taylor reunion of Sunday besides the Sergents were two daughters Mr. and Mrs. Phil Adams and children, Christie and Calvin from Louisville, Miss Sara Bell Sergeant from Cincinnati; Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Taylor from Kingsport; Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Taylor of Huntington; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Taylor and son Herby and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Taylor and two children also from Charleston, W. Va.

Mrs. Nan Bentley was able to be out and go to church Sunday. After church she went with us for dinner at the Ballard Meades. After dinner Blaine brought Mrs. Bentley home so she could rest and the Meades and Blaine and I drove to Jenkins to the funeral home. Carl Whitaker of Jenkins died with a heart attack and Henry Taylor was killed in a car wreck after returning home and was on the way to his farm in Ohio. (Will tell you more about this next week).

Time changes and children grow up, as children have a way of doing. Remember the twin grandsons of Mrs. Nan Bentley, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Roy (Karo) Bentley? Well they have grown up and Allen got married September 14 at Clintwood, Va. to Barbara Farris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Farris formerly of Logan, West Va. now of Michigan. They happy couple visited their grandmother Bentley before going on their honeymoon.

Other visitors of Mrs. Bentley were Mr. and Mrs. Rowley Totten (Lettie) from Freeburn and a grandson, Danny Blair.

Mrs. Melvin Rose (Virgie Martin) of Kona is a patient in the Whitesburg hospital.

We were very saddened to learn of the destruction of the Sergeant Community Center, by fire last week. The building burned about five o'clock a.m. I don't know the cause of the fire.

There was a good library in the center and many things stored by Operation Main Stream.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Collier are home after spending the week end in Irvin with their son, Don his wife and their two lovely daughters.

Friends of Mrs. Alfred Adams were happy to see her out to church Sunday. Many of her friends at the church went home with her for dinner. This made her very happy for before her illness she always cooked dinner at church time and had folks go home with her for dinner.

This day her daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Gallaway and their sons, Teddy and Michael had come for a visit and had helped cook the good food. There were around 35 or 40 guests among which were, Mrs. Bonnie Dempsey, and Mrs. Mary Wright, Fleming; Mrs. Benessa Davis, Hemphill; Elder Junior Dameron and his mother, Mrs. Dameron of Robinson Creek; Elder and Mrs. Felix Sexton, Deane; Elder Mullins and his wife from Long Fork; Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Hall of Deane; Elder Chuck Keeze Elder and Mrs. Bob Turner and children, Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Purgan, Luther Meade all of Loraine, Ohio, Elder Alex Collier of Cleveland, Mr. and Mrs. Maudie Gibson of Fleming and Mrs. Adams were besides themselves with joy that they were able again to have friends come in and eat with them. Blaine and I wanted to go but had committed ourselves to go someplace else.

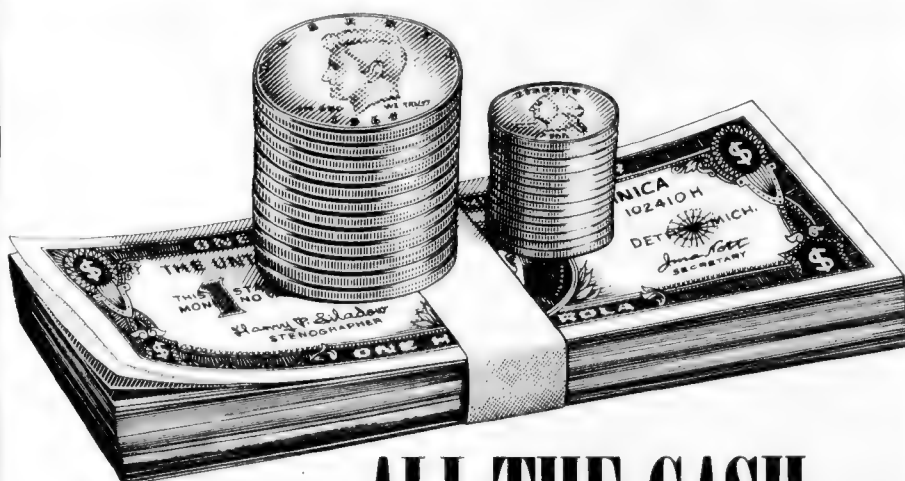

Mrs. Alice Hart of Sergeant is happy to tell us that her brother, Leslie Bentley who was so severely injured at his place of work in Wyandotte, Michigan, is much better and is home from the hospital. Another brother, Ernie Bentley from Georgia had been to visit Leslie and stopped by Sergeant and visited awhile with Mrs. Hart. A daughter, Mrs. Lillian Gustafson of Independence, Ky. called her mother, Mrs. Hart and talked with her Sunday evening. Her daughter, Romona has moved back to Independence to be with her mother and teach in the Covington School System, while her soldier husband is away.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Craft of Springfield, Ohio have returned home again after visiting her parents, the Ballard Meades over the week end. They drove down to our house and brought us some clothing for the Center. They tell us that Jerry and Rose Carolyn Bentley came to visit them earlier this month. It is good to learn of our gone away friends visiting each other.

Our daughter, Dot Bentley talked to us Sunday evening. She is taking some college courses in the Louisville University and doing some substitute teaching in the Louisville school system.

We extend our deepest sympathies to the family of Mrs. Lula Adams of Mayking, who died earlier this month. Mrs. Adams, 71, was the widow of Gordon Adams, who died several years ago. She is survived by seven daughters, Mrs. Geneva Polly, Payne Gap; Marnell Ables, Ohio; Genetta Hogg, Haymond; Freda Mason, Mary Stanley, Nancy Keathley all of Indianapolis, six sisters, Susie Kendall, Lizzie Sparks, Lina Webb, Maggie Mae Collins and Mary Collins all of Mayking, and Gladys Blair of Lexington.

"Believe you can—and you can!"

These are very difficult words to believe when the future looks impossible. How unbelievable they may appear—they are true.

The man who held the record for running a mile—held it for 37 years. "He is the fastest man alive," everyone said. One day a young man by the name of Roger Bannister broke the record. He cut almost 11 seconds off the record, and ran the mile in 4 minutes flat. Why? Because he believed he could. Even Bannister's record has been broken—and it will continue to be broken, because there is always someone who believes he can do it.

This is true in most every facet of life. Believe in yourself, your family, your friend—and you will see the records broken through your faith.

Blackey:

LOCAL RESIDENTS RETURN FROM OHIO WITH FINE FRUIT FROM RELATIVE'S ORCHARD

By CHARLES ANNE MULLIS

Mrs. Cora Back and Gene of Woodrock visited last week in Neward, Ohio, with Mrs. Back's sister, Mrs. Bruce Gayheart and Mr. Gayheart. They brought back several bushels of fruit from Mr. Gayheart's fine orchard.

Mr. Baxter Jenkins of Seattle, Washington, flew in to visit his mother, Mrs. Lida Collins, and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Dixon of Louisville visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim May of Letcher, and Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Dixon, Blackey, and Miss Elma Dixon.

Mrs. Joe Haynes of Bull Creek has returned from a visit with her daughter, Bessie, who is postmaster at Smithsboro, and granddaughter and family last week.

Pvt. Danny Lusk of Fort Campbell has been on leave, visiting his parent, Mr. and Mrs. Haden Burns and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bryant Dixon.

Come to the regular monthly meeting of the Blackey Improvement Committee on Friday, September 24, at 7:00.

Now that you have received your property tax statement, think about this: at the present time, individual families carry the burden for financing local government. Coal companies pay relatively little in state and local taxes. Because of the federal depletion allowance, and the scheme of subsidiary and out-of-state parent corporations, coal companies paid almost nothing in property taxes although they mined $657,000-000 worth of coal in 1970. Letcher county can hardly afford to provide the coal industry the luxury of non-taxation. We need a severance tax with money coming back to Letcher county out of these profits—for schools, better local government, health programs, and many other benefits. Think about it!

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Caudill and Mr. L. T. Begley had dinner with Aunt Catherine Haynes last week.

Mrs. Elmer Portwood has returned home after several weeks visiting her son, Tom and family, and daughter, Nell and family in Cincinnati.

The Citizens' League to Protect Surface Rights will begin its fall and winter work with a meeting on Monday night, September 27 at 7:00. There will be question and answer period on strip-mining in Kentucky, and the need of a severance tax on all minerals.

If our government is so anxious to help the people of Appalachia and bring jobs to the area, why doesn't it subsidize the small coal operators? There are so many of them who could make reasonable profits and put 6 to 8 men to work at decent wages if they had some financial help, perhaps low-cost loans? We have many experienced men in the area who could help work out such a realistic program.

Mrs. Jim Caudill, Mrs. Don Blair and daughter Lisa spent the weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Shepherd of Cumberland, Ky.

Saturday Mrs. Shepherd, Mrs. Caudill, Mrs. Blair and Lisa spent a pleasurable day shopping in Cumberland and Harlan towns. Mrs. Blair, who is the daughter of Mrs. Jim Caudill and formerly of Blackey, resides in Williamsburg, Ohio, where she teaches in a school system there. Her husband, Mr. Donald Blair, a retired army officer is Chief of Police at Williamsburg. We are justly proud of our hundreds of young people who have left us and made good in other states, but we hope our state will soon have jobs to offer them so our leaders of the future can come home and live.

Bridge repair men, troopers high priority

FRANKFORT -- Gov. Louie B. Nunn announced Kentucky's initial share of funds from a $7 million federal program to boost employment will be used for hiring bridge repairmen and extra state troopers.

He said the state already has applied for some $1.4 million under the grant and is awaiting Washington's approval of the application.

The first phase calls for $846,720 in federal funds for 387 new jobs in the state Highway Department to repair bridges and construct low-water fords across the state.

Other funds will go for a new 50-man state police cadet class and the hiring of 63 civilians to replace troopers in giving drivers' license exams. Also to be hired are five new technicians for the state police crime laboratory.

The cost of the new positions will be $385,677.

Other funds will be used to hire additional personnel for the School for the Deaf in Danville and the School for the Blind in Louisville.

Governor Nunn said the programs outlined are designed to bring into the work force "those who are the temporary victims of technological change and others who by lack of training or opportunity find themselves out of work."

When we were young we didn't give thought to time, but it's September . . .

By DAISY HALCOMB

Today I'll start a new week. This month will soon be gone. Doesn't it seem like just a few days ago was the beginning of the month? Time passes by so fast, or maybe we just think more about time than we used to, for when we were young we didn't give a thought to time. But now we have more time to study our lives, and where we are going in the end. And if anyone is asked where he wants to go, the answer should be Heaven.

So sorry to hear of so many people being sick. I couldn't name all I have heard of. It seems like the hospitals are full. God Bless each and every one that is sick, and may they be well again soon.

Court plan proposed

The Legislative Research Commission has developed a temporary plan that would ease Kentucky's overloaded circuit court system if adopted by the General Assembly next year.

The plan would reduce circuit court districts from 51 to 19 while increasing the number of judges from 76 to 102.

This would lower the annual caseload from the current 687 per judge to about 500.

According to the commission this would require interpreting the state constitution to permit multi-judge and multi-county court districts.

To head campaign

The Kentucky Chapter of The Arthritis Foundation today named Mrs. Ronald Polly to head its 1971 campaign for funds to fight arthritis. The drive will be conducted during September, according to Richard M. O'Connell, president of the Chapter.

Mr. O'Connell pointed out that one in 11 Americans of all ages has arthritis. That means that in Letcher County alone there are 2,054 arthritis victims.

Lola Halcomb called her brother Dennis Halcomb in Michigan. He said that his family is OK and that his brother Oscar Halcomb and family are also fine. Geneva is able to be home and is getting along fine after her operation.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ander Collins are OK. Virgil has been sick but is now much better.

Alex Tyree spent last weekend visiting his children in Cincinnati and Portsmouth, Ohio. I am sure they were glad to see him.

Sorry to hear of the death of Mary Gibson. My deepest sympathy goes to her family.

Well, I have been to town and talked to Lawrence Maggard. He said he was doing fine. He's able to go again.

I am very sorry to learn of the death of Lizzie Cook Tyree. She was the daughter of Has Cook, sister of Ed Cook and Stella Mae Campbell, our friends and neighbors. My sympathy goes to all the family. She died in Michigan, and burial was on Dryfork.

I am very sorry to hear of the death of P.W. Ramsey. It seems like every week we have sad news of some friend or neighbor or home has been saddened by death. We know it isn't anything new. Sure as we are born, we have to die.

My sympathy goes to all his family, and may God Bless them all.

Sallie Maggard is in the hospital in Lexington, and is getting along fine. She will be home soon.

I had a call from my daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Maggard from Tiffin Ohio. They said they were fine and would be home a few days before winter. I will be glad to have them.

Paschal Maggard of Tiffin will go to Cleveland Ohio soon for an operation. My prayers are that he will soon be well and back home.

Well, this has been a beautiful Sunday, but now the sun is sinking behind the hill and the curtains have closed again and may God watch over us all.

COMPANY LEASES 10,000 ACRES FOR WILDLIFE MANAGEMENT PROJECT

Frankfort, Ky. -- the Stearns Coal and Lumber Co., of Stearns, has leased to the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources 10,000 acres of land lying in the western section of McCreary county for use as a wildlife management area.

Procedures to improve the game habitat have been approved and work will be instituted on a number of projects immediately, according to Chester Stephens, wildlife biologist who is in charge of the project. The initial plans call for establishment of about 20 small openings in the wooded areas to be sown to grasses conducive to the well being of wildlife. In addition, a number of small watering holes will be established throughout the arid sections of the tract. The plan is under the direction of the Game Management Division and Federal Pittman-Robertson funds will be used to develop the area on a contract basis. Public hunting signs are now being erected on the tract.

The tract extends from the Tennessee line to the South Fork of the Cumberland river and borders alongside the Daniel Boone National Forest in many places. Wildlife using the area include deer, grouse, squirrel and raccoon.

The lease is for a ten-year period and a year to year development plan is now being prepared.

Fall fishing a favorite

FRANKFORT -- If you are not addicted to hunting or even if you are, but have an allergy that won't permit you to go into the fields, then the place for you this fall is on the lakes where fishing reaches a fever pitch in late September, through-out October and into November.

Seems a bit odd that hay fever sufferers always find surcease from their ailment while on the waters of Kentucky's larger lakes. In addition, during the fall, they catch a great many fish.

It's a period when fishermen are little bothered by boaters and actually may fish a full day without careening speed boats upsetting their ulcers. In all probability the only persons they will see on the lakes are those kindred members of the fishing fraternity.

And those fishermen will be of the "old pro" variety. The novices usually give up fishing as fall approaches and leave the waters open for those who are devoted to the sport.

Fishing is good in the fall.

The black bass become more active as the waters cool and early morning and late afternoon casting (surface lures) in the heads of tributary creeks usually brings good results.

During the "heat" of the day black bass usually may be found bottom feeding off rocky points and it'll take a deep runner to entice them.

If it's relaxation you're seeking you may set your poles with a trolling rig and cruise about the lakes, especially off the points, and have your rest and catch your fish, too.

Trolling is highly profitable in the fall months. This type fishing also permits the fisherman to drink in all the beauty of the palades around the lake and to observe wildlife with a clearer view than at any other time.

If bass are not the fisherman's bag, he does reasonably well by fishing for the abundant crappie in the majority of the larger lakes.

This species school up in the fall and usually will be found around a submerged tree-top, over stumpbeds or even right in the middle of a deeper slough, where they can be located by drifting a minnow back and forth across the area. When a hit occurs it's time to anchor the boat and get ready for action.

To be sure a few other species may be taken in the fall, but the best fishing is for black bass and crappie.

And the big lakes are not the only areas from which they may be taken.

Before the water become too cold, a wading expedition down a smaller stream with flyrod in hand will yield some of the most soothing fishing there is. These streams will offer a quantity of fish rather than the larger ones, but an afternoon in a stream can bring pleasure unfound in other types of fishing.

So, hang the hay fever and hunting. Go fishing.

ELLIE SEXTON AND OLA BAKER

EXHAUSTED FROM A HARD DAY OF SHOPPING, little Genevieve collapses with a bottle on the lap of her mother, Lula Breeding

ARTHUR BAKER

STORY AND PHOTOS BY LIBBET DOWNS

OLD KETTLES, SILVER PITCHERS AND OLA BAKER are part of the hustle and bustle of each weekend in Isom

Trading at Isom is a week-end adventure

"Pants and britches and padded bras" and just about anything else you might need you'll find at the Isom flea market.

Every weekend throughout the year truckloads of everything from bright beach towels and inflatable clowns to old and new clothes, pottery, glassware and sterling silver fill the stalls in Isom.

People come here looking for bargains -- a new winter coat, salt and pepper shakers or a kitchen table. Boys come to explore, hoping to unbury a treasure like a bicycle pump that still works. But many people come to Isom simply to gather to talk with friends from scattered areas.

"I'm a cowshed boy" said Luther Johnson, who runs "The Cowshed Trading Post". He's worked there every Saturday and Sunday since 1963. "During the week I get the stuff wherever I can get it", usually in factories and discount stores. He has free time to spend working around his home, and keeping his lawn mowed. A miner for 2½ years, Johnson says, "I worked in darkness, and I wanted to see daylight and see a little living". So with the money he earned from mining he set himself up in business. He enjoys working at The Cowshed.

Leon Webb and his wife have been in business in Isom for 20 years. Webb, a descendent of the original Webbs in this area, was raised in Thornton. "My uncle, Nehemiah Webb, gave birth to The Mountain Eagle" Webb said. He remembers working the the office of the old "Eagle's Nest" when he had to help set the type and work the old hand press. He also wrote for the paper. Besides some editorials he composed a series of poems called "The Broad Highway". Journalism, he says, "is soul satisfying"; he wishes he had time to write. "But this business is not conducive to creative art... you can't keep body and soul together".

Webb works in Ashland as a wholesale dealer. But "on Saturdays and Sundays I get even with them -- they have to buy from me then" he says.

Across the street from the Webb's store a large van is parked. It belongs to Arthur Baker and his boy, Arthur Baker Jr. Baker and his wife, Ola, drive the van up to Middletown, Ohio, where their son lives, to pick up a load of things that he buys in auctions during the week. It's a big job, unloading the full truck, and Mrs. Baker is always busy dusting the contents, organizing them and arranging tables for display. But they always have time to talk to old friends who drop by to browse around and visit.

Congressional hearings . . .

Re. Wayne Aspinall (D-Colo.), chairman of the House Interior Committee, said that a "practical solution" was needed. "It is a Congressional responsibility, and you and I and our colleagues have failed," he said.

The author of another bill, milder than Hechler's but tougher than the administration's, also testified. Rep. Wayne Hays (D-Ohio) said that strippers are creating "a disaster of enormous magnitude" by "devastating" thousands of acres. Hays contended that states are not doing an adequate job of enforcing reclamation. "If the strip industry is doing a good job of reclamation as they claim, the new law won't affect them; or they're not doing a good job."

On Tuesday the committee heard Ohio Rep. John Seiberling call for a five-year federal moratorium on stripping until more facts could be learned. The suggestion was not seriously considered, with Republican Craig Hosmer sarcastically suggesting "a five-year ban on people."

Administration spokesman Hollis Dole, assistant secretary of the Interior Department, acknowledged that strip-mine damage is "shocking" and the situation "grave, even staggering." But, he insisted, damage from underground mining may well be just as bad. "In light of the cost advantages of surface mining," Dole said, "it may prove cheaper in human and economic terms to require surface miners to be environmentally responsible than to rely solely on underground mining." Dole said that the Nixon administration believes that mining damage can be "effectively controlled."

Russell Train, chairman of the Council on Environmental Quality, said that no states have "fully adequate" strip-mine laws. However, he said, Kentucky has "some very good provisions." He said that this state perhaps come closest to fulfilling the requirements the Nixon administration has in mind.

Equal time (fr. P. 10)

of the lowest per capita incomes in the state. There is the fact that 66 coal miners were killed in West Virginia mines in 1970, together with 4,380 reported non-fatal injuries - the highest rate of non-fatal accidents per man hours in the United States.

The request for free reply time by the low income miners and conservation groups was made under the "fairness doctrine" of the Federal Communications Commission.

George thought glaucoma was an island in the Mediterranean.

Ignorance of glaucoma is literally blind ignorance.

Glaucoma is not a place. It's a serious eye disease that will needlessly blind about four thousand adult Americans this year.

And approximately one million people in this country have glaucoma right now and don't even know it. Because often there are no symptoms at all.

But if you're lucky, there are some warning signals. Blurred vision.

Halos around lights. Trouble in adjusting to darkened rooms. Loss of peripheral vision.

An eye examination by an ophthalmologist is the only sure check. It doesn't take long. And it doesn't hurt.

If you're over 35 have a glaucoma test now. Then have one every two years.

If you can't afford the services, see a social worker or contact a public health nurse in your area.

With prompt treatment glaucoma can be controlled. Blindness can be prevented.

This may be the only warning you'll ever have: Glaucoma is not an island in the Mediterranean.
